

Size

- Don't make your image too small. It's fine for an image to take up the full width of a page.
- Screenshots at full resolution often take up too much space on the page, so you may have to resize them.
- In general, don't use an image that's wider than the column it appears in.
- Consider how the image will look when printed out.